Deborah A. Dooley

Dear Friends,

As we look back at 2008, we will likely remember it as a year of challenge, choice and change.

Human services and those we serve face challenging times. We are greatly affected by the ever-widening disparity between rich and poor, the continuing spread of poverty among women with children, and the plummeting decline in resources to help them.

Yet, in spite of the challenges to helping those who are trying to improve their lives, grassroots support has increased. This past year so many have chosen to support Sojourner House because they recognize the strength and potential of the women and children that we serve.

Through your help this past year, over 500 women and children have been able to continue their journey toward more responsible and meaningful lives through the "Sojourner House Experience." As families embrace the shelter, structure and inspiration of Sojourner House, they strengthen their capacity to make permanent, positive changes in their lives.

Make no mistake about it: Your choice to support Sojourner House families makes it possible for them to grow in these challenging times. Thank you!

Sincerely,

Dreamseeds Helps Children Succeed

“DAPA taught me how to listen, follow directions, and stay focused.”

Mayasia Elliston

Dreamseeds, Sojourner House’s comprehensive children’s program, offers arts and cultural opportunities through the Dreamseeds Academy of Performing Arts (DAPA) program and provides one-on-one tutoring through the Study Buddy program for Sojourner House children. Program statistics clearly demonstrate that the program increases the children’s confidence, creativity, and academic performance. During the 2007-2008 program year:

- ❖ 78% of children in the Dreamseeds program showed academic improvement
- ❖ 77% of children showed behavioral improvement
- ❖ 100% of parents surveyed were very satisfied with the program
- ❖ 94% of Study Buddy tutors rated their experience as satisfactory or higher

However, the most compelling evidence of the program’s effectiveness is the positive difference it makes in the lives of Sojourner House children, like Mayasia Elliston. Mayasia is now in her sixth year of taking lessons in the Dreamseeds Academy of Performing Arts program. Like most DAPA students, she participates in more than one class. This year she is studying piano, Caribbean drumming, modern dance, tap dance, and African dance. Her favorite class is Caribbean drumming because she is learning a different style of drumming than in past years. She says, “I really enjoy learning different kinds of arts, and the DAPA program lets me do that.” She says her family also enjoys hearing about what she is learning and often asks her to demonstrate her skills. When asked if she would recommend DAPA to her peers, Mayasia responds with a resounding “yes.”

Mayasia, a seventh grader at Wilson Foundation Academy School, feels that participating in Dreamseeds has helped her become a better student. She says “DAPA taught me how to listen, follow directions, and stay focused.” Mayasia is also a member of her school’s soccer team and actively participates in its S.W.A.N. (Southwest Area Neighborhood Association) program.

At the 2007 spring recital and celebration, Mayasia was honored with the First Annual Coordinator’s Choice Award in recognition of her passion, leadership, positive attitude, and continued growth. Dreamseeds Coordinator, Carlos Merriweather, explains that the award will be given annually to a DAPA student who is a shining example and positive role model for other students.

Client Profile

Women, with and without children, arrive at Sojourner House in need of shelter and stability in their lives. After 3 to 6 months in our Transitional Housing Facility, nearly all of our graduates enter permanent housing with their families more intact than when they arrived, better equipped with life skills, and a clear set plan for their next steps. One year later, with on-going, strong support from Sojourner House, most women and families continue on the path to self-sufficiency. The success of Sojourner House women affirms the effectiveness of our continuum of care approach to working with underserved women and families.

Women enter Sojourner House Transitional Housing Program facing daunting barriers:

- ❖ 100% are homeless
- ❖ 92% are struggling to overcome substance abuse and 85% alcohol abuse
- ❖ 85% are diagnosed with mental illness
- ❖ 83% are diagnosed with substance abuse and mental health issues
- ❖ 57% are coming from an emergency shelter or in-patient treatment program
- ❖ 76% have been victims of domestic violence
- ❖ 70% have had involvement with the criminal justice system

Race:

- ❖ 39% African American
- ❖ 59% White
- ❖ 2% Other

Median Age: 36.5 years, with 20% under age 25 and 20% age 45 and older

Education: 48% had less than a high school education

Annette Jackson

“Sojourner House gave me hope. They taught me that I could become anything I wanted to be.”

In 2001, Annette Jackson was heavily into drug abuse, homeless, and in jeopardy of having her parental rights terminated. Determined to turn her life around, regain custody of her children and build a better life for her family, Annette turned to Sojourner House for help.

Annette recounts, “When I arrived at Sojourner, I was rebellious and wanted to make my own rules. I needed to let go of my anger and learn how to take direction. I had to take the cotton out of my ears and learn to keep my mouth closed.”

Before long, she settled into Sojourner House and set goals for herself. After successfully completing the six-month Transitional Housing program, she moved into supportive housing where she continued to work toward her goals with the help and support of a Sojourner House outreach worker. Annette says, “I have the utmost respect for Sojourner House. They taught me how to get my self-respect back. Sojourner House gave me hope. They taught me that I could become anything that I wanted to be.”

Annette never lost focus and one by one she is achieving her goals. She regained custody of her four daughters, beginning with her eldest. She sought training to become a certified home health aide and has worked for HCR for six years. Over the years, she has been recognized on a number of occasions for exceptional service to her clients. In 2005, she purchased a home on a quiet street in the 19th ward. Sojourner House held a ribbon cutting to help her celebrate this exciting milestone. She had journeyed from homeless to homeowner in just four short years!

In June 2008, Annette was honored as the 11th Sojourner House Epiphany Award recipient in recognition of her lasting commitment and determination to remain drug free, reach her goals, and succeed over the long term. As an Epiphany Award winner, she is a beacon of hope and inspiration to other women who are striving for family stability and self-sufficiency.
